

Recommendation Letter

Having known Patti Malott, both professionally and personally for over 20 years, it is with strong confidence that I would recommend her and Upright Ministries for your consideration. Patti truly does possess a wide array of skills which are exceptional but perhaps even more than that, she has a passion and a calling to use those skills within the church and non-profit world.

I've been in the fortunate position of being able to refer Patti and Upright Ministries to many of my church and non-profit clients and the feedback from those clients continues to be exceptionally positive.

Among her specialties is the implementation of programs designed to reduce the risk of sexual abuse or misconduct within a church, school, or daycare. She has developed a very impressive program but even more importantly, the training that goes along with such a program. Patti does an excellent job of evaluating the practices of an organization and what is currently provided and identifying areas that can be improved. With specifically designed training and carefully orchestrated program implementation, the safety of the children and youth that are entrusted to our care is greatly enhanced.

This and the other service needs available through Upright Ministries would receive an unequivocal endorsement from our agency. We always know our clients are in very good hands through the work of Patti and Upright Ministries and I would strongly encourage your involvement with this organization.

Sincerely yours,
